SPRINKLING THE CITY STREETS

MAYOR SENDS COMMUNICATION TO THE CITY COUNCIL.

Seeks to Improve the Method and Cut Down the Expense of Sprinkling and Cleaning Paved District.

At the meeting of the city council last evening, a communication was received from the mayor, recommending that the city be divided into sprinkling districts, and that bids be called for the sprinkling of the same, and that each district be let to the lowest bidder; also that the paved district be divided into two districts and that bids be asked for the washing of the same with the street washer.

The communication was referred to the committee on streets and water supply.

A communication from the Plain City Irrigation company was read, offering to exchange water in the Ogden river for the water flowing from the city sewer. The communication was referred to the water committee.

A communication from G. S. Bradley, asking to be appointed dog tax collector, was referred to the mayor.

Regarding a communication received some time ago from W. L. Brown and others petitioning the city council to increase the width of Thirty-fourth street from Lincoln avenue to Washington avenue, the committee recommended that 66 feet was sufficient width for this street. The report was adopted.

To Concrete Reservoir.

By unanimous vote the council adopted the report of the waterworks committee in the matters of the proposed concrete work on reservoir number 2, and it was referred to the city engineer with instructions to advertise bids for the work. A communication for the purchase of supplies for the water works department was also accepted by the council and adopted. The water works pay roll for the first half of March, amounting to $359.70, and claims for the same department amounting to $2,128.07 were allowed. Claims from the city auditor aggregating $2,509.05 were also ordered paid.

The council approved a recommendation that no purchase of an Ajax fire engine be made.

A petition from residents of the proposed new sewer district on Capitol Avenue from Van Buren to Quincy was presented with the request that the matter be laid on the table for one week in order to allow every resident and property owner affected by the new sewer, time to look into the matter. The petition was granted.

The request of the city engineer recommending that the request of Garrison, Foster and Garrison that the city grade Oak street and allow the above named firm the use of the excess dirt for filling in adjacent building lots was referred to the street committee.

Improve Moffatt's Lane. A sketch of Moffatt's Lane with the estimated cost of sidewalks, grade and sewer on the lane was presented by the city engineer, the total amounting to $3,624. The report accompanying the sketch and estimate was adopted and the city engineer authorized to advertise notice of intention to create a sewer, sidewalk, gutter and curb district on Moffatt's Lane.

For the week ending Saturday, March 12, the city treasurer's report shows the following sums on hand: Waterworks, $28,257.88; general fund (part called for payment), $8,452.76 and special fund combined, $9,852.39.

Total $46,562.96. The report was ordered filed.

A total of twelve old and eleven new cases of contagious disease is shown on the report of the sanitary committee, two of which, both smallpox, are at the pest house. Three deaths from disease of a contagious character are also shown on this report during the past week.

A claim of $800 against the city was presented for Weber county, being the city's share in the fire insurance premiums on the voting machines stored back of the court house. The bill was ordered paid.

Would Park Streets.

First estimate of the amount due the J. P. O'Neill Construction company for work done in sewer district number 191 was presented by the city engineer, the total amounting to $332.52 which was allowed. A communication from the road supervisor was read in which it was claimed that in several sections blocks for use in installing street crossings have been left on or near street crossings. The residents and property owners have requested that these blocks be removed in order that they may park the sections fronting their property. The matter was referred to the sidewalk committee.

Another communication from the same source was read and caused some discussion. This referred to the system of washing street intersections in Salt Lake as compared to that in use now in this city. It is said that the Salt Lake system of cleaning the street crossings is to use the city sewer. The communication direct from the city engineer suggested at a great improvement on that now in use in this city of using sprinkling wagons. In view of the fact that the street sprinklers now in use are said to be badly in need of repairs and not able to do the work required of them because of the seven additional blocks of paved streets to clean this year, a request was made for the purchase of two additional street sprinklers.

After some discussion the part of the communication referring to the purchase of the new sprinklers was referred to the committee on water supply and the rest of the waterworks committee.

The Purchasing Agent.

Following a request from Henry Eatemann that he be given a license as a cement worker, which was granted, several requisitions for supplies and other expenditures came up for consideration. In this connection Councilman John Austin provided some amusement for the council by his remarks concerning the work done by the purchasing agent. Councilman Austin is of the opinion that the newly appointed city purchasing agent is not doing his work as several matters concerning the purchase of supplies have come before the council from time to time. It was at length explained to him that the requisitions first had to be passed on by the council after which the various departments or committees having charge referred the matters to the purchasing agent to obtain bids, but Councilman Austin refused to concur until he had voted on no two matters involving expenditures of $15 and $15.

Supplies were requested by the chief of police, the fire department, city engineer and the purchasing agent, the latter's request being for the purchase of two new typewriters, one for use in the treasurer's and the other in his own office.

Several other matters of routine business came up for action, among them being a bid from J. P. O'Neill of the construction company bearing his name for $12,000 for the crossing stones piled on the city square, which was referred to the street committee. A petition from J. L. Moore and M. L. Jones for permission to erect and maintain a wagon scale on Thirteenth street at Washington avenue was referred to the street committee.

A long communication from W. H. Sherman in which he requested a position as a patrolman or other employment with the city was referred to the police committee.

After the ordinance submitted by the city engineer creating a sewer district on Child's avenue from Tenth street south had been read for the first time and passed and given its second reading by title and passed, the council considered other matters of minor importance and adjourned.

BAD LITTLE BOYS AND GIRLS BEFORE COURT

Salt Lake, March 15.—Four boys, one 14 years of age and three 15 years old each, were committed to the Utah Training school by Judge McMaster of the juvenile court Monday for incorrigibility. Two of the lads are from Riverton.

A boy 17 years of age was committed to the industrial school at Ogden for immoral conduct, but sentence was suspended during good behavior. In the meantime the lad will be required to report to the court at regular intervals. The girl in the case is 17 years of age, but she failed to appear Monday. Her case will be heard Wednesday.

Assault and battery is the charge placed against a boy 14 years of age who was before the court Monday. The lad engaged in a fight with a playmate at school and cut his opponent with a knife. He was released by the court upon condition that he will make things right with the boy he assaulted, and also with his school.

STENOGRAPHERS' EXAMINATION

The United States Civil Service Commission announces that examinations will be held for the positions of stenographer, stenographer and typewriter, at the following places in the States of Utah, Idaho, Montana and Washington on the dates mentioned: Utah—Salt Lake City, April 9.

Idaho—Boise, April 12; Coeur d'Alene, April 16; Pocatello, April 11. Montana—Billings, March 28; Butte, April 5; Missoula, April 6.

Washington—North Yakima, April 19; Seattle, April 20; Spokane, April 18; Tacoma, April 23; Vancouver, April 26; Walla Walla, April 15.

The commission invites attention to the fact that a vacancy exists in the position of male deputy marshal, qualified as stenographer and typewriter, at $500 per annum. In the office of the United States Marshal, Helena, Mont.

The commission has been unable to secure male stenographers from which to make certification to fill the vacancy referred to, and all qualified persons are urged to apply for and take the coming examination.

Persons who desire to compete should apply for Form 394 and Form 1424, "Instruction to Applicants for Stenographer and Typewriter Examination." These forms will be furnished by the local secretaries at any of the offices where the examinations will be held and by the secretary, Twelfth Civil Service District, Room 241, Postoffice Building, San Francisco, Cal.

EGGLESTON GETS INTO TROUBLE

After forging and passing checks signed with the name of Henry Doon, an engineer of the Harriman lines, amounting to upwards of $100, the largest of which was for $22.75, Frank Eggleston of this city boarded a train for Pocatello last Thursday evening, according to information obtained by Sheriff Barlow Wilson, and so far has been able to elude capture in spite of the efforts made by the sheriff's office to apprehend him.

Sheriff Wilson said yesterday that the first intimation received by his office of the offense was when several saloon men reported the matter to him. He immediately sent out deputies to endeavor to ascertain whether or not the man had left the city and after furnishing a description of Eggleston to railroad employees it was discovered that he had purchased a ticket for Pocatello. When the train on which he left the city returned from Pocatello Sheriff Wilson interviewed the conductor, who remembered the man and said that he had purchased a ticket to Idaho Falls from Pocatello. In telephone communication with Idaho Falls the authorities at that city could furnish no information of Eggleston and it is presumed that he stayed on the train, paying his fare in cash to the conductor and continuing onward to the north.

Information regarding the case has been withheld from the public by the sheriff's office while attempts to catch Eggleston were being made. Sheriff Wilson says that after reports of the forgeries had been received a brother of the man had come to his office and endeavored to settle up for the amount of the forgeries. He claimed that he had talked with the victims of his brother and that all of them were willing to settle, but as far as is known at present nothing has been done in the matter. Since the departure of the suspect northward the sheriff has discovered a number of additional checks, all on the account of Henry Doon, and it is possible that the total sum may run over $100. Every effort has been made by the sheriff's office to effect Eggleston's capture but no trace of him after his leaving Idaho Falls has been obtained. The sheriff said yesterday that as far as he is concerned a settlement may be made by Eggleston's brother, but should the young man be captured he will have to stand trial, as in the event of his victims refusing to make a complaint the officers will do so.

ENUMERATORS ARE GRANTED INCREASE

As a result of continued efforts on the part of Hugh A. McMillan, supervisor of the census for the state of Utah, to secure an increase in the remuneration of census enumerators in this state, Mr. McMillan Monday received a telegram from E. D. Durand, director of census at Washington, D. C., advising him of one-half cent per capita increase in the pay of the census takers in the cities of the state. The increase affects those who have been assigned work under the B rate, which is 2 1/2 cents per capita, thus giving them 3 cents per capita. Those under the C rate will not be affected. In other words, it places those who were under the B rate under the C rate. The increase is effective in Salt Lake City, Ogden, Provo, Logan and Park City.

In his fight for more pay for the census enumerators, Mr. McMillan placed especial emphasis on the high cost of living in Utah.

Boston, Mass., March 15.—That Angeles Snell, who died yesterday of heart disease in the state prison, where he served a life sentence for murder in 1903 is guilty of four other murders is the statement made in a confession by Snell made public today.

CHOYNSKI KNOCKED OUT JACK JOHNSON

In response to numerous requests Joseph Bartlett Choynski, famous California boxer, has written for this newspaper the story of how he knocked out Jack Johnson with one punch. That was years ago, but recent events make the incident one of great interest. This is Choynski's version of it.

(By Joe Choynski, Famous California Light Heavyweight Boxer.)

As the only white man who has ever knocked out Jack Johnson, the present champion of the world, it might be inferred that I possess considerable knowledge of this great black man who is soon, let us hope, to meet James J. Jeffries for the world's greatest honor in pugilism.

Perhaps I have such knowledge, but at the start let me advise my readers that they must not expect too much of me. I have some opinions, and in response to the demand of the public am writing them. But I crave indulgence of the statement that they are merely opinions.

Let me further excuse this by saying that after I had whipped Jack Johnson—perhaps decisively, if you will have it—and had been forced to remain some twenty-eight days in a Galveston jail for the feat, I was so glad to get away from Texas and its environs that Johnson and Texas and the fall slipped out of my mind as easily as if the entire incident, the whole affair, in fact, had been one of a trivial nature.

Out of the fragments of my memory I can piece together a pretty good part of a report on this ring mastodon, even with the little details missing and incomplete.

The one thing that stands out strongest to me is this:

In the nine years elapsed since my battle with him I can today see little change in Johnson.

Then, as now, he was extremely clever. Certainly at all times he was a wonderfully strong fellow, for he swung me around a couple of times in our battle, much as if we were children playing the old game of crack the whip.

Confidence Makes Great Change.

But there has been one wonderful change in him, and this, to my way of thinking, accounts in great part for his being champion of the world today.

Johnson jumped around a lot more in those days than he does now.

That's because today he is confident, and when he faces an opponent he is not alarmed at the slightest feint. He stands still and waits, the experience he has gained telling him that he is the master and that there is nothing to fear.

I knocked Johnson out with a left hook to the right eye. It landed just below the temple and floored Johnson as cleanly as could be. He fell upon his back, wallowed around and attempted to get up, but he was counted out.

Perhaps I have got ahead of my story. The fight was held in February, 1901 and was to have been ten rounds.

Johnson weighed 192 pounds that day, I only 159. But I was confident, and his powerful frame and the desperately fine development he displayed when he stripped didn't worry me any.

In the opening round we both did a lot of dancing around. He was awfully long and reachy, I remember well, and it was hard for me to reach him. He kept dancing away, and there was scarcely a punch struck in the entire round.

The second was about the same, neither of us doing much excepting to exchange light punches. We were both full of fancy flourishes.

"This won't do," I thought to myself after the second round. "This is likely to go the ten rounds and I might lose on a hairline decision. I'll go in and take a chance this time."

I walked out for the third round with my guard high to tempt him to lead for my rise. He bit like a hungry bear at the bait I tossed him, and he tried to reach my body. I lashed out with all my might for his jaw with my left hook, which, pardon me for the little bouquet, was the equal of any man's punch, bar none. I wanted the jaw, but he dropped his head just a bit and it landed just back of his eye.

Sheriff Leaps in Ring.

The force with which I landed jarred me, too, and I knew I had him. He couldn't come back, but something else did. Five or six big fellows, each drawing a husky looking piece of blue
